On the above date the mac got a call from S [REDACTED] 0100 to do a shop call for one of his employee name Everton Beacon pass [REDACTED] that was involved in an accident at St Barnabas hospital. I tech Sargent took the call and was the one that went to the hospital. Before going to the hospital, I made sure and called to get permission from the hospital to come there to do the test. I spoke with one head nurse by the name of Mrs. Scott, who said it was ok and to ask for the doctor in charge when I get there.

Supervisor [REDACTED] picked me up from the lab. I arrived at the hospital @0259. Upon entering the ER, I asked to speak with the person in charge which was Dr. [REDACTED] I explained to the doctor who I was and what I was there to do. The doctor said he will speak with the employee to let him know that I was here to do a test. Dr. [REDACTED] came back and informed me that the employee said he didn't want to take the test. I explained to the doctor that test must be taken and to let the employee know this. He came back a second time to tell me the employee said no. At this point I told the doctor that he will need to tell me to my face that he was refusing the test, and the consequences of not taking the test the doctor went to his room to relay the message and he came back with the same answer that the employee refuse to take the test and he didn't want to speak to me.
